To whom it may concern,

I sincerely appreciate the opportunity to apply for the position of IS Systems Engineer, Infrastructure Systems, at Apple, Inc., which, at the time of writing, is listed on Apple's career-searching website as an on-site position in Austin, Texas.

I have worked multiple hybrid roles in the Information Technology sector, and have ample experience with multiple cloud management platforms, operating systems (including Linux), project management systems, programming languages (including Python), and other applicable technologies. Additionally, I am currently working towards a degree in Computer Information Systems at Clemson University.

Most recently, I worked with the Helpdesk and Desktop Specialist teams at Benefitfocus.com, Inc., where technicians such as myself solved technical issues which would have otherwise reduced the effectiveness of business operations. I was frequently recognized for my outstanding efforts to quickly and thoroughly diagnose and resolve technical problems, which ultimately led to my position, Associate Helpdesk Specialist, being transformed from a summer internship to a part-time position while I attended Clemson University.

Thank you for considering my application, as well as for your time. I believe that I would be an indispensable addition to the team at Apple, and I look forward to the potential to discuss this opportunity further via email, phone, or video call.

Respectfully,

Owen Sullivan
